Peculiar Questions and Practical Answers Jun 19 2021 The New York Public Library staff answers questions remarkable and preposterous, with illustrations by Barry Blitt. Have you've ever wondered if you can keep an octopus in a private home? Do you spend your time thinking about how much Napoleon's brain weighed? If so, Peculiar Questions and Practical Answers is the book for you. The New York Public Library has been fielding questions like these ever since it was founded in 1895. Of course, some of the questions have left the librarians scratching their heads... "In what occupations may one be barefooted?" "What time does a bluebird sing?" "What does it mean when you're being chased by an elephant?" "What kind of apple did Eve eat?" "How many neurotic people are there in the U.S.?" In Peculiar Questions and Practical Answers, the staff of the NYPL has dug through the archives to find thoughtful and often witty answers to over one hundred of the oddest, funniest, and most whimsical questions the library has received since it began record-keeping over seventy-five years ago. One of The New Yorker's best-known and beloved illustrators, Barry Blitt, has created watercolors that bring many of the questions hilariously to life in a book that answers, among others, the question "Does anyone have a copyright on the Bible?"

Jesus Research Jul 09 2020 This volume explores nearly every facet of Jesus research -- from eyewitness criteria to the reliability of memory, from archaeology to psychobiography, from oral traditions to literary sources, and from narrative criticism to Gospel criticism. Bringing together a wide variety of topics and perspectives in one volume, this ambitious collaborative enterprise casts light on important debates and encourages creative links between ideas new and old. This distinguished collection of articles by internationally renowned Jewish and Christian scholars originates with the Princeton-Prague Symposium on Jesus Research. It summarizes the significant advances in understanding Jesus that scholars have made in recent years, chiefly through the development of diverse methodologies. Even readers who are already knowledgeable in the field will discover unique angles from well-known New Testament scholars, and all will be brought up to speed on the current state-of-play within Jesus studies.

Religion and the Natural Sciences Jan 27 2022 The first half of 'Religion and the Natural Sciences' is an introduction to the discussion of science and religion. Here the reader learns why there is any debate at all and what resources exist for responding to it. The second half deals with specific issues that arise in the individual sciences, from astronomy and physics to biology and ecology. Any project hoping to connect science and religion must supply the categories of connection, which are found primarily, although not exclusively, in philosophy. The simplicity of the arrangement and the nature of the selections are intended to make 'Religion and the Natural Sciences' available to as wide an audience as possible, including students from the sciences and technology, the professions, the humanities and liberal studies, and theology.

The 3 AM Guide to Your Aging Parents Mar 05 2020 It's 3 AM and the neighbor calls. Your dad left the house looking confused and rumpled more than 12 hours ago and no one has seen him since. It's 3 AM and your sister calls. She thinks it may be time for your parents to consider a retirement home. Can you tell them? You're so much better at that sort of thing. It's 3 AM and you wake up worrying. Author Laura Tamblyn Watts understands these late-night worries. Not only are her own parents in their eighties—she's also spent her career informing others about aging people's needs. Here, she transforms her experience into a handbook of practical advice on doing the right thing while caring for an older loved one. Watts addresses every aspect of elder care, covering living situations (at home or in a retirement or nursing facility), mental changes like dementia, money management, complicated family relationships, and changes in physical ability. She has advice for everyone, whether they live far across the country from their parents or right nearby. Whether they're involved in their lives a lot now or haven't been in contact for years. Whether they're an only child or one of twelve kids. Tough issues like mental health, addictions, abuse or neglect, estrangement, an "unsuccessful son in the basement," second or third marriages, and divorces are all covered with grace and humor that make this tough stage of life seem a little easier. With Watts's help, getting informed and making a plan will stop 3 AM worry sessions for good.
